Our telegrams bring the startling in telligence that Mexican mobs have invaded the state of Texas. It is stated that they have captured and hold in custody the county officers of El Paso county, and a terrible massacre is lia ble to occur at any moment. Judge is bound with ropes. It remains to be seen what course our government will pursue. In the meantime it is to be hoped that Governor Hubbard will not delay pu ting the state troops in motion for the purpose of protecting the people of Texas.

PATTERSON'S CASE

Patterson, of South Carolina, was arrested in Washington yesterday on the requisition sent on by Governor Hampton. He was shrewd enough, however, to avoid arrest until his attorneys had made out a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. Upon this petition he was carried before Judge Hump reys and admitted to bail in the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars. His lawyers succeeded in having his case postponed until the second day after the meeting of congress, and it is strongly hinted that the senate, of which he is a member, will be called upon to decide whether one of their number is subject to arres under the

THE CAPITAL LOUATION

View-A Defense of Atlanta.

BASKLESS CHARGES We wish Georgia to have a capita ity of which her people will be proudl and we think this alone will secure the charges of corruption and undue influences in legislation we regard as derog-atory to our people and too base ess to amount to any argument in favor of either place; and we are sorry to see our leading journals exhibiting so much feeling and resorting to such unfair means to influence the public mind to their choice. Such a course will hardly bring much support to either side.

The facts are, the state already has a capitol building and a governor are in Atlanta squal to or superimansion in Atlanta equal to or superi to the state building in Milledgeville, which must revert, according to contract, and be a total loss to the state if the capital is moved. ATLANTA'S PROP. SITION.

Columbus Times
In our columns may be found the proceedings of the city authorities of Atlanta renewing the engagement to donate a suitable lot and build a new capitol fully as good as the old one at Milleugeville, if the people vote to continue the seat of government at Alanta. Appended is a clause of the new constitution, showing that the objection that Alanta will be prohib objection that A lan's will be prohibited by law from complying with this engagement has no found tion. We believe the objection that the city will not fulfill the engagement to be equally groundless. Indeed the people of the state will have the power to enforce its fulfillment, and will doubtless exercise it in the event of Atlanta's failure. Such an act of bad faith on the part of Atlanta would arouse.

The railroad running in front of it. The lot of five acres slopes gently in every direction from the summit, on which now stands the city hall building—a building about as large and fully as valuable as the old capitol at Millelige-ville. It could easily be re-arranged so as to be as commodious and suitable for the legislative halls as the Milledgeville building, but this the people of Atlanta do not propose to do. They propose to tear down this comparative y new and costly structure and to erret on its site a new capitol building. It must need be a better one than the Milledgeville capitol if it is better than the present city hall building; and when it is erected on this commanding eminence of-the-way capitol at Milledgevile, which, though venerable and hon-orable for its connection with Geor-gia's era of prosperity and influence, is in neither its style nor its location a structure that any great state could proud of.

We believe that there is no good reason whatever to doubt that Atlanta will do what she promises in the pro-position referred to. And we are satisfied that when she does so the people of the state will rejoice that they located the capitol in their most prosperous interior city, in the railroad centre of the state, and where it will be most convenient to the great ma-

Bolin, a citizen of that place, was returning home from Danburg, in Wilkes county, where he had been at work, he sprang from the train on the Washington branch of the Georgia railroad, when near Ficklin depot, while he was passing from one car to another, and was instantly killed by falling across the timbers of the road. -The Dahlonega Signal says that a "joint snake" was killed near that town this summer. It was about three feet long and in the thickest part of the body about three or four inches in circumference. Its head was shaped like a red-headed scorpion, with a litle pink about its throat. Its skin was dove colored, slick and glossy, with small white streaks an inch or so long men came across a densely crowded up and down the body. When struck it flew to pieces, and it is said the pie--The Swainsboro Herald says that about 12 o'clock on Tuesday night a the residence of Mr. Wm. Rich and called for his son, Allen Rich, a young Father and son both responded to the call, and discovering that it was diswas, Mr. Wm. Rich was shot three times, one ball entering the back and lodging in the breast. After the fight was over, the unknown parties stated that their business was to talk to Allen Rich about certain slanderous reports he had put in circulation concerning young ladies in the neighborhood, and not to hurt any one. It is feared that Mr. Rich's wounds will prove to be fatal. Dr. Bell was called to see him and dressed his wounds, and gave him all the relief he could. The Dr. was all the relief he could. The Dr. was not had opportunity of learning his opinion of Mr. Rich's condition. The matter is deeply regretted, as Mr. Rich is a quiet, in ffensive citizen.

Wonderful Business Well Handled There is no business that has grown with such marvellous rapidity since the war.

In the last issue of Frank Leslie's President Hayes' visit to Atlanta. One represented the president speaking in front of the Markham house to the large crowd assembled the other shows the procession turning from Whitehail up Alabama street, with a good view of buildings on both streets, and a flue likeness of the elegant turn out from O. H. Jones' stable, in which the president rode. The cuts are from the designs of Horace-Bradley, of this city, a young man of remark she aristic talents, who is bound to make his mark in this line. The drawings from which the cuts were made must have been very flue, and they do credit to the skill of the young draughtsman.

The president's Atlanta receivious's spoken of by the northern press, as the host complete received on his tour, and much of the credit of it is due to the excellent management of Aiderman O. H. Jones, chairman of the citzens' committee on reception. He managed the whole aff dir admirably.
